We were contracted to convert a former Acura dealership into a new Infiniti dealership for Gunn Automotive Group. While the former sales building had to be demolished for the new facility, careful planning enabled us to re-use the existing foundation saving the owner a significant amount of time and money. Our design for this 30,000 sq. ft. dealership included a completely new sales and administrative building, and a thorough renovation of the service and parts departments including all new equipment. Gunn Infiniti was completed on a fast-track schedule.

“By using an existing foundation, we were able to save the owner time and money enabling the doors of this new facility to be open within five months.”
